

A new Website !

www.aldes.ae

To support our customers and provide relevant information, Aldes Middle East is launching its new website dedicated to the HVAC professionals. A new Aldes world with new functionalities is now available on the internet!

To fit your needs, Aldes has exchanged a lot with its customers and highlighted that the 3 main requirements are:

- * A quick access to the information.
- * A complete technical information by product.
- * An exhaustive list of downloadable documents.

Along with these statements, we have developed a simple, clear, functional and ergonomic website. In only few clicks, you can discover Aldes Middle East and have a direct access to all our solutions. Documentations are also available on-line and easily downloadable. These documentations are dealing with Aldes activities, case studies, articles, products information...

We are providing different services to support you at each stage of a project in order to push forward a smooth running of your HVAC system.

To ensure current and qualitative technical information, Aldes Middle East website will thus be continuously updated.

Should you need a quotation or a meeting with one of our sales representative, a documentation or any information to participate in our training session and visit our factory in Sharjah: connect to Aldes Middle East website and contact us!

Discover our website and try to win an Aldes present!

Fill the questionnaire enclosed to this email and send it back to contactus@aldesme.com by the 17th of February, 2011.

Take your chance!